CONFERENCE COHORT: The level of experience is how long and how familiar teachers are with teaching towards language acquisition, not necessarily how long or how experienced they are with teaching in general. If teachers are unsure of which cohort to choose, please have them complete the following survey: http://tinyurl.com/iFLTCohortPlacement2020 to help them self-place. Or check Fluencymatters.com https://fluencymatters.com/iflt-2020-conference-cohort-descriptions/

CHOOSE ONE COHORT:

Beginning Cohort: I am aware, but I do not completely understand OR I understand but cannot implement it yet.
Advanced Beginning Cohort: I know what to do, but have not been consistently successful with implementation yet and/or I understand the concepts but do not agree with it.
Intermediate Cohorts (choose one specific cohort from below): I know what to do and can often implement it.

- Intermediate Low --homogeneously grouped with many languages and teaching assignments
- Intermediate Mid --homogeneously grouped with many languages and teaching assignments
- Intermediate High--homogeneously grouped with many languages and teaching assignments
- Intermediate Elementary—--all languages, all intermediate skill levels

Experienced Cohort Strands I know have skills that are solid enough to share and model strategies for colleagues.
You will choose one of the two strands:

Leadership/Mentorship Strand
Advanced Skills Development Strand
